Registered Massage Therapist Prince George - An energy healer is someone who is gifted with working with balancing the energy field which surrounds the animal or human body. The energy field is known as other things; conventionally referred to as the chi, chakras, aura body or the energy body. To an energy healer, the term is not as essential as the effects of working with it.

Energy healing is an integral part of whatever holistic healing plan for the reason that our energy fields are practically linked to our complete well-being. Energy work is linked with the gateway of the Spirit. The Body Gateway is linked with physical healing, the Mind Gateway is linked to emotional and mental healing and the Spirit Gateway is connected with energy healing.

Many energy healers believe that most dis-ease originates from blockages of energy and could be healed by releasing blocked energy in the body. Like for instance, respiratory ailments may feature a blockage of energy around the lungs. As soon as an energy healer unblocks that area, your respiratory concerns should vanish or lessen.

Depending on the system they work with, energy healers function in different ways. The fundamentals are the following: unblocking, re-routing, charging with light and exorcizing negative fields. Your local spiritual bookstore or metaphysical store may be able to put you in touch with an energy healer if you feel this may be for you.
